

NAPPB NEWSLETTER FOR MARCH 2025

Happy March 2025!

- Great News to begin the month of March! NAPPB now has a permanent meeting place. Heather Lea Hollingsworth, member of NAPPB and owner of Hollingsworth Hall Cultural Center and NAPPB have joined together, assisting each other in future endeavors. So much to be thankful for. Thank you, Heather and Abby.
- Jenna Henderson, TTU University student, presented her "Timeless Echos", "A Vision Not Clouded by Fear" Fashion Line to the members of NAPPB. We will be participating as models in her undergraduate assignment and plan to have a fashion show of her designs in May 2025. Her fashion line celebrates and reinterprets the rich cultural heritage of the Cherokee people through contemporary design. Miss Henderson is part Cherokee herself, which makes this just so special for her. More information will be shared soon.
- Member Garrett Cowan will be teaching a class to members and guests as well on native plants sometime in the next few months. His plan includes having a group planting in containers of native plants where he will provide the seeds, pots and soil. This will be a good way to get our community involved. More to come on that.
- We will start making plans for our beading and sewing classes along with our participation in community events at our March meeting. We are going to have a very busy spring and summer. There will also be activities in the Hollingsworth Hall meeting rooms and parking lot such as a garage sale, block party, funnel cake and frybread sale and much more.
- I must say, God our Creator heard our prayers, and He is supplying so much more than what we could have asked for. Thank you, Lord!!!!
 - HAVE A WONDERFUL MARCH!!!
